AB Gas chromatog.-mass spectrometric studies showed that Darjeeling Orange Pekoe black tea contained 130 mg volatile substances/kg, and Indian Broken black tea contained 60 mg/kg. The quality of the former tea was primarily determined by its biogenically formed volatile substances such as terpene hydrocarbons, Me salicylate [119-36-8], and linalool oxides, whereas the quality of the latter tea was determined by volatile substances formed by intensive fermentation and drying.
